BLUE DRESSES IN "THE BLUE MOUSE"

London, June 19.—Many of the drosses worn by Miss Lessing in "The Blue Mouse" are blue so as to be in keeping with her nickname. In the first act it is a lavender shade of blue, and the materials are voile and charmeuse. The corsage is in the charmeuse opening over a vest of lace and finished with a white satin collar, but its more original details are to be found in the way in which the folds are carried from each side, crossed in front and around the hips to the back, where they meet a panel of the charmeuse, which fails to the hem of the skirt.

A deep flounce of embroidered voile provides the upper part of the skirt, and this meets a deep kilting of chiffon in a darker shade.

A small black hat, trimined with a stiff wreath of white roses, completes the costume. In the second act Miss Lessing wears two dresses. The first is in pale blue charmouse, arranged with a long tunic over a series of cream lace frills, which are edged with tiny pink roses. These white roses are again seen on the corsage hanging from the bretelles of blue chiffon

The second dress is in dull blue taffeta, made with one of the new long bodices which meets the skirt at the hips. Here the material is draped to each side, and there held in place by large bows and ends, while one larger bow fastens the folds at the back. The corsage is cut square and edged with ruchings of black tulle, and the very short sleeves are finished with a pointed cuff. The small black straw hat is trimmed at the back with sets of thy pale blue wings.

The cuffs and revers are in the same bright material, while the buttons down the skirt are in vivid red. A hat of dark green straw trimmed with a tuft of dark green feathers accompanies the dress.

Among other dresses is a white cloth coat and skirt worn by Miss de Bray as Clarissa. The coat is cut away very much in front and carried to a point at the back where it is finished A Novel Skirt.

The skirt has a wide pleat falling from the waist to the foot in front, smaller pleats all round contributing still more to give freedom of move-ment. A white hat worn with this dress is trimmed with a feathery tuft

Editor in Trouble for Quoting Victor Hugo.

A trial which is creating great interest began at Alicante, to-day, says an exchange telegrann from Madrid. The editor of the Workers' Journal, at Alcante, is stated to have published certain verses by Victor Hugo, which the authorities consider offensive to religion. They have accordingly arrainged the editor, for whom the public prossecutor is demanding three years' imprisonment. The Liberal press expresses the hope that he will be acquitted.

Barley Water for Babies.

The value of barley water as a diluent of cow's milk for infant feeding is beyond question, but many nurses and mothers neglect to add barley water to cow's milk owing to some imaginary difficulty in preparing it. It is quite a simple matter to prepare barley water, and this preparation of cestabilished excellence is certainly.

Following Trivial Dispute, One Negro Kills Another-Well-Known Insurance Man Struck and Injured by Bicycle-Other Petersburg News.

Petersburg, Va., June 19 .- The following item which appeared in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of June 15, is of interest to many rela-tives of the young man in this city and

"Alexander Russell Bolling, son of Dr. Robert H. Bolling, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, has received an ap-pointment from President Wilson to the Navel Academy, at Annapolis. He passed his mental and physical exam-inations and left this morning to enter the reademy. the academy.

pointments given by the President each year. On his mother's side, young Bolling is descended from an old Southern family, who have been in the services of the United States Navy for almost a century. His grandfather was the late Rear-Admiral A. W. Russell, and a cousin—Majoh John H. Russell, and a cousin—Majoh John H. sell—is now on outpost duty at Vera Cruz. His father, Dr. Bolling, is de-scended from an old Virginia family, who were on the side of the Confederacy during the Civil War. Mr. Bolleracy during the Civil War. Mr. Boll-ing's appointment is the result of his mother's family's long connection with the navy. It was obtained through a Southern Congressman. The appiontee is eighten years old. He attended Chestnut Hill Academy for seven years, is a member-of the Philadelphia Crick-et Club, and was a member of the junfor team, which won the city campion lor team, which won the city campion-ship last year."

As a matter of interest in connection with the above, it may be stated that young Bolling is in the eighth genera-tion in descent from Robert Bolling, who married Jane Rolfe, granddaugh-ter of Pocahontas. He is a great-grandson of Colonel Robert B. Bolling, of "Centre Hill," Petersburg, and is the oldest son of an oldest son in eight generations. His Bolling ancesters for seven generations bore the name of Robert.

At last they were led to the third story, and at a given signal the cloth was taken off from their eyes, the object explained, and then the race for the first floor began. The winner was to be the first one to grab for apples. May Mailson won the race, but did not get the apples. Ted Ray got the last apple. After such things as eating popcorn strings, chewing warm maple sugar and other things, the festivities closed with a feast, and B. F. Y. remained unsolved.

Interesting Letter.

Dear Editor,—Here I am, with June, the un-above—that sounds good, doesn't it? It's shorthand, spelling "vacation is nearly here"—the vacation weve all heen looking forward to for so many months. The long-looked-for heaven that we've wished for on days when that puzzling old arithmetic seems to make itself more puzzling, when that suciling middlens us good and hard and Old Lady Grammar and algebra poke themselves in with their "brain-tickiers and "thinking smashers." The then that we deliver sermons that are so perfect in the board by that firm. The board last night decided to make some slight changes in the plans and specifications for the building. It is hoped to have the house ready for occupancy by the opening of the next scholastic session.
